The Electric Sword

One day, happy Tim is looking for treasure. If you're wondering who Tim is, Tim is a treasure hunter. He likes looking for treasure and it is cool to look at. He is searching for special coins and finds an electric sword. The electricity comes out and creates light on the tip of the sword when you say, "I summon the power of electricity." "Ooooh, this could come in handy," Tim thinks, and puts it in his backpack.

Meanwhile, near the chest, Darkness says, "I need to get that electric sword." Darkness looks like a silhouette of a person. Darkness has a scheme. He will take out the light in the world and put it in a bag in his lair. His lair is hidden in another world. Darkness tries to use a lasso to take the electric sword from Tim. All that happens is Darkness grabs a bag of Cheetos. Darkness's second attempt has a tripwire. A squirrel beats Tim to it and the squirrel trips and Tim finds out about it. Then Darkness remembers something, "Why am I trying to get the electric sword when I'm trying to make Darkness?"' whispers Darkness.

Darkness waves around his special bag to gather up all of the light and then he flies back to his planet. Tim goes back to his house and asks, "Hey, where did my Cheetos go?" He notices a bag of Lays beside him and decides, "Hey, I'll just have these." Tim loves potato chips. He looks out the window and wonders, "Hey, it's already night time?!?...but it's only five P.M."  Tim goes to bed as soon as he finishes the chips. He wakes up in the morning and says, "Hmmm, it's still night time? I'll go back to bed." When he wakes up again, he says, "Hmmm, something is fishy about this…something other than my fish burrito." He goes out to investigate and sees a figure. He looks for a flashlight and yells, "Hey, who are you?" Darkness runs away really fast.

"Ha ha ha, he will never find out about my scheme of keeping the light in a big bag," Darkness says. But Tim hears. Tim pulls out the electric sword and says, "Hmmm, let's see what powers this has." Immediately the sword goes up because it is meant to find light. It goes right up to the bag while Tim holds on tight and flies up. Then he finds Darkness's base. "What have you done to the world's light?" he demands.

"How did you find out about my scheme?" Darkness asks.

"Because I heard you say it," Tim replies then he looks at his sword. The sword explodes into a human made of electricity. He uses his electric powers to blow up the bag and returns light to everyone. Tim screams, "I did it! Now can you bring me back to Earth?" Tim comes back and enjoys the light. Electricity is the most important treasure Tim has ever found. Then Tim finds the special coins he wanted.

By Vincent Torres, 9
3rd grade at Oakton Elementary School